Person Posing Risk to Children

West Midlands Region

Multi-Agency

Good Practice Guidance Manual

October 2009

Introduction

This West Midlands Region Multi-Agency Good Practice Guidance Manual has been produced jointly by the services that are engaged in working to reduce risk to children across the region; and has the support of key multi-agency staff who are involved in child and public protection.

The work on the Manual began in January 2006. It was initiated in response to the document 'Guidance on Offences Against Children', itself generated by a national multi-agency working group responsible for reviewing Schedule One arrangements. The Schedule One arrangements had originated with the Children and Young Persons Act 1933. 'Guidance on Offences Against Children' suggested that the term 'Schedule One' be replaced with a new term: 'a person identified as presenting a risk, or potential risk, to children'.

The introduction of this change at a national level provided an opportunity to review and improve how services in our region work together to reduce risk to children; and specifically to improve communication between services.

The working group clearly defined how we work to assess risk to children and developed systems to improve how we communicate that risk. The work encapsulated in the manual represents a move away from the mechanistic notification system associated with Schedule One arrangements to a dynamic process that recognises the contributions made by different services. The manual itself presents standardised forms for communication to improve practice.

At the launch it was agreed that the manual would be reviewed within its first twelve months and this has been done March – September 09. The review has been overseen by representatives from all relevant agencies across the West Midlands Region supporting a small working group lead by Tina Wakfer, Birmingham Assistant Head of Safeguarding.

The Guidance Manual is a significant achievement and is testimony to the degree of commitment within the region to improve the way we communicate and work together to protect children. This re-launching of the manual through Local Safeguarding Boards is accompanied by relevant briefing materials to support a local roll out of the guidance across the responsible agencies ensuring awareness and compliance.

1 Purpose and Principles

This guidance primarily relates to the identification, assessment and management of individuals who have committed offences against a child and have received a caution or conviction for that offence. It also applies to those who have committed an offence against a child but where no formal conviction has been secured.

This Guidance has been developed to clarify how and when services communicate with each other about individuals assessed as posing a risk to children and it aims to provide guidance on the role and responsibility of each agency within the process of identification, referral assessment and management of those individuals.

This Guidance recognises that assessment of risk posed by an individual to a child or to children is not solely about conviction. Convictions alone do not define ongoing risk. Assessment of risk posed by an individual needs to take into account a wide range of factors including the age of the offender, the circumstances of the offence, their attitude towards their offence and their victim as well as any history of relevant offending.

The guidance recognises that where acts of criminal behaviour, particularly those involving serious violence or substance misuse, which are perpetrated by an individual who is a parent or carer of a child but not perpetrated against a child but may cause concern for a child's welfare. Assessment in these circumstances may be required as to how their criminal behaviour impacts on their parenting capacity. Where these concerns exist then a referral for assessment should be made in line with the local authority's Safeguarding Children arrangements.

The table below clarifies the key principles underpinning the manual and which determine when communication and referral is required between services and when it is not.

Category	Definition	Action
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Conviction or Caution for an offence against a child • No ongoing risk to children identified 	Someone who has a relevant conviction against a child but where assessment is that they do not continue to pose a risk to children.	In these cases no notification to Children's Social Care is required. Instead detail of the conviction and assessment conclusion will be recorded on Probation / YOS / Prison records with statutory management of the offender undertaken as required.

ASSESSMENT TOOLS

Tools for Assessment in Probation, Youth Offending & Prisons

- OASys & ASSET
- OASys & Safeguarding Children

Assessment of Risk to Children in Probation and the Prison Services; and Youth Offending: OASys and ASSET

(i) OASys

OASys (Offender Assessment System) is the primary assessment tool for both the Probation and Prison Services.

OASys is used with offenders aged eighteen and over, and:

- forms the basis for sentence planning
- informs MAPPA and other public protection processes
- determines and tracks interventions to reduce risk and support rehabilitation
- indicates need for specialist assessment
- underpins other risk assessment processes in custody

Crucially, OASys incorporates assessment of risk to children. Identification of risk to children is included in both the Risk of Harm Screening and in the full OASys assessment.

Probation and Prison Services use OASys as the key indicator for identification of risk to children.

Where an offender is assessed on OASys as presenting a risk to children this will feed into the Risk to Children processes outlined earlier in this manual

Assessment of risk to children in the absence of OASys

There are some offenders within custody who do not have an OASys. For those cases where OASys is not available, other information sources will be accessed by staff.

(ii) ASSET

The over-arching document used in the Youth Offending Team setting is the ASSET document; an evidence-based document which indicates the risk of re-offending based on criminogenic factors (total score 0-48 maximum). This indicates low, medium and high risk of re-offending and may also trigger the need for a full risk of harm and / or risk of vulnerability document. The above will inform the intervention planning process.

The documents are also used in the public protection panel process for violent and sexual offenders and the PPO management process. The assessment also informs the PPRC (Persons who Pose a Risk to Children) registration.

OASys and Safeguarding Children (Child Protection)

(Chapter 8 OASys Manual)

R2.1 Is the offender now, or on release, likely to live with, or have frequent contact with, any child who is subject to a child protection plan or is being looked after by the local authority?
This information may not be available at PreSentence Report stage but must be checked as soon as possible. If in custody this must be kept under review especially in relation to changes in discharge address, Home Detention Curfew or any temporary leave, especially if arrangements are made at short notice. Note unless R2.2 is 'Yes' this section is about children who may be at risk for other reasons e.g. offenders partner etc.

Complete R7
 This may require liaison with identified social worker. Any info that could put children at risk should be entered into relevant file section and cross referenced to R7.

Further checks must be made after PSR

R2.2 Are there any concerns in relation to children?

This is aimed at checking concerns regarding previous / current behaviour towards children and is about the offender's behaviour and risk they pose. If unsure contact must be made with social services for advice. This could be a recorded phone call on contact log. Where there are concerns local safeguarding (Child Protection) guidance must be followed if there is no confirmation that this has already been done.

No further action required but case must be monitored for any change that requires this section to be reviewed

R6 must be completed

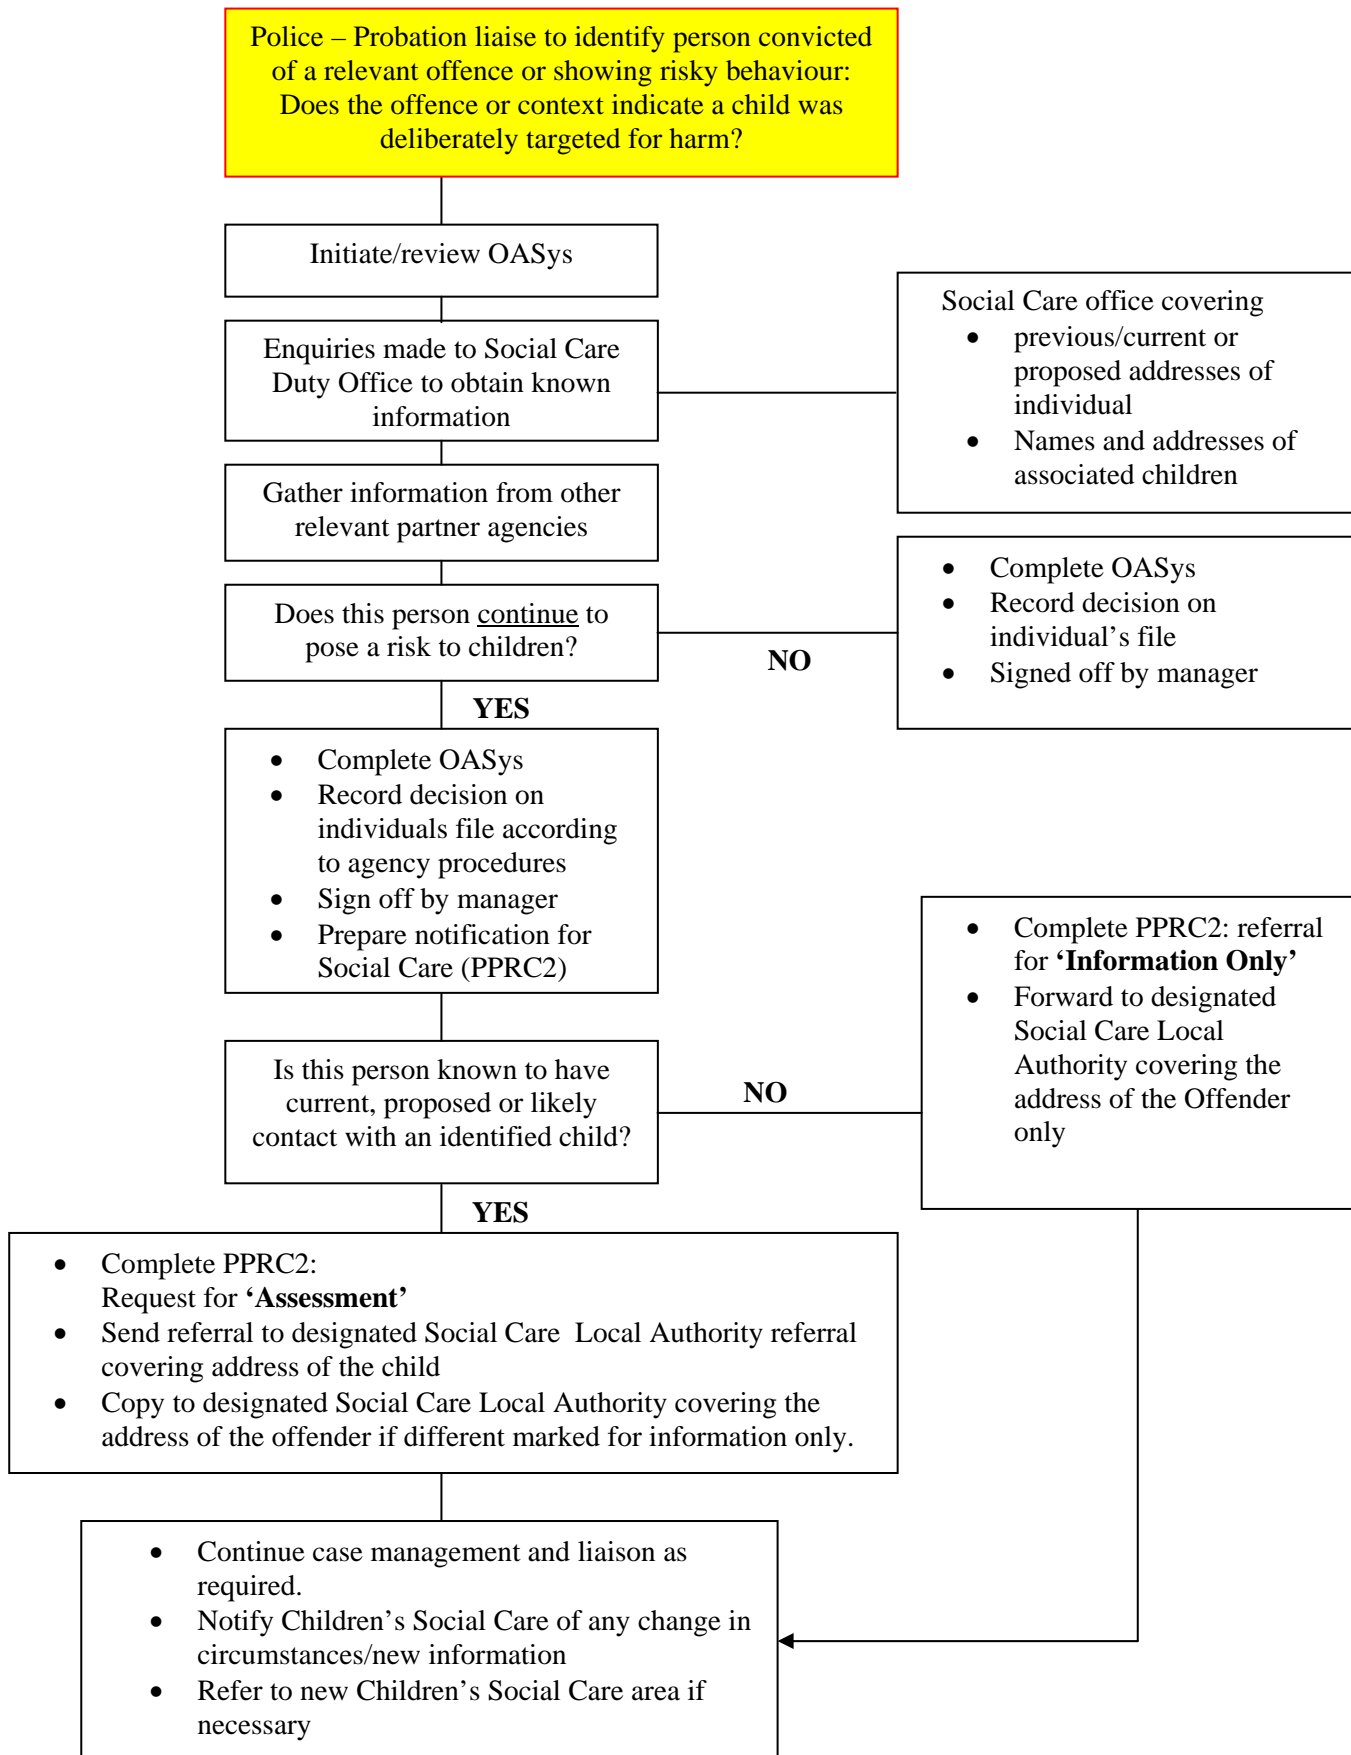

It is important to provide detailing relation to when children are at risk and the particular circumstances when this may occur. Any work identified in Risk Management Plan aimed at reducing risk must be referred to in the sentencing planning section

2. Service Processes & Assessments

Probation Services

- Identification & Notification Process Chart
- Assessment and Referral
- Re-referral

Probation Services Identification & Notification Process Chart of Persons in the Community
Who Pose a Risk to Children:

Please Note: Where an individual is transferring from YOS supervision into Probation caseload, the PPRC status should be reviewed as to continuing appropriateness by the receiving officer. Outcome to be notified to Social Care office covering address of offender.

Referral to Local Authority Children's Services: Social Care.

Probation will complete the assessment of risk posed by the individual and where the assessment concludes that the individual poses a risk to children then a referral will be made to the Local Authority Children & Families Services - Social Care.

Referrals to Social Care should be completed on a PPRC2 referral form marked either for "Information Only" or for "Assessment". The referral will be directed to the Local Authority: Social Care covering the address of where the child resides, where one is identified, and copied to the Local Authority where the offender is residing if different. Where there is no identified child, it should be sent to the Local Authority where the offender is residing. If the offender is of No Fixed Abode the referral should be sent to the Local Authority: Social Care area in which the offender is being managed by Police and/or Probation.

Changes in Circumstances and Re-referral

Where there is a significant change in circumstances (e.g. release from custody or identification of a child now in contact) the Probation case worker should generate and submit a new PPRC2. The new referral should outline the change of circumstances and identify the appropriate referral. I.e. where there is an identified child an Assessment request referral must be made outlining the circumstances of contact with a child. Where there is no identified child for example the person has moved to a new area then a referral for Information only can be sent.

No Further Risk Identified

In cases where an individual has been OASys assessed as no longer posing a risk to children, the details of the relevant offence and conviction will be retained as outlined in Probation Circular 87/2005.

In these cases an update of the assessment should be sent to Children's Social Care covering the address of the offender in order that their record can be updated.

PPRC or Section 47: Child Protection Referral

The PPRC process is for managing individuals who have a conviction against a child or whose behaviour directed towards a child gives cause for concern.

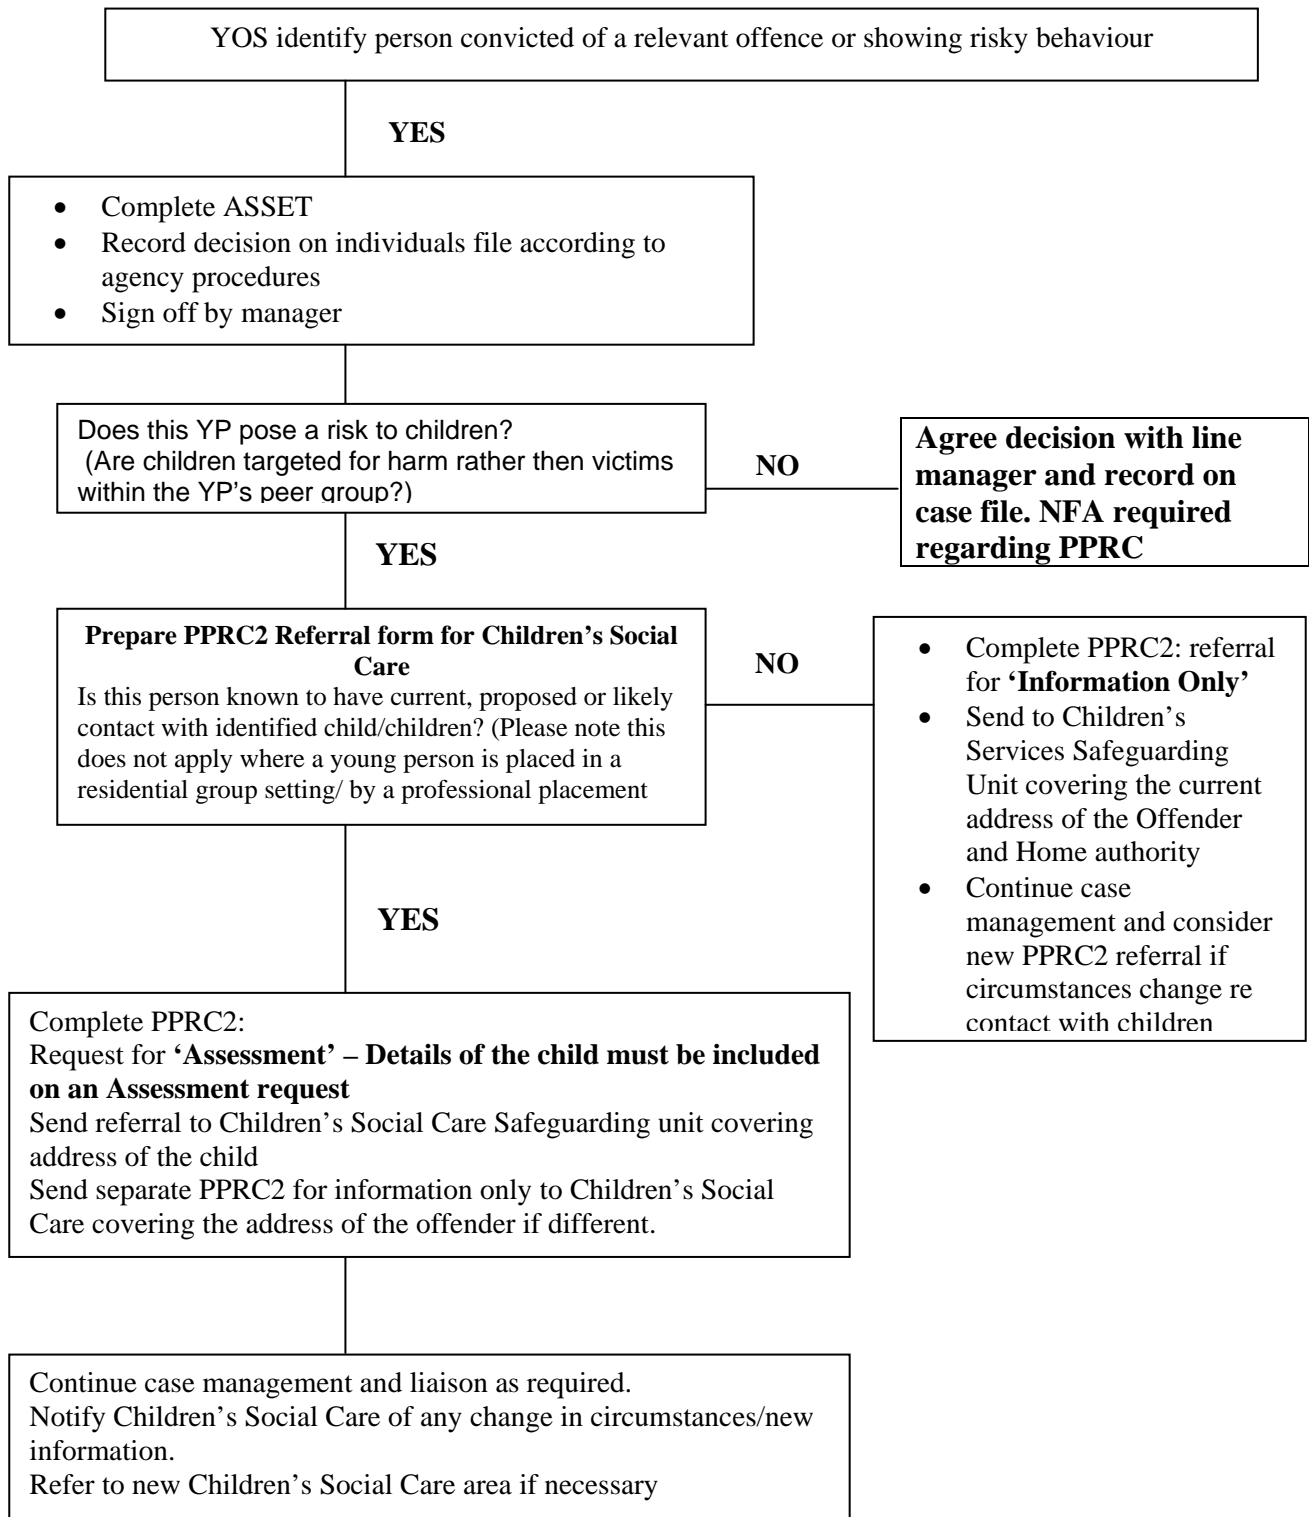

Where concerns are raised about the welfare and or safety of a child due to the criminal activity, behaviour or lifestyle of an individual but where no offences against a child have been perpetrated then the process for referral is the standard Safeguarding procedure in the local authority for the resident child. Most Local Authorities will have an interagency referral form for use.

3. Service Processes & Assessments

Youth Offending Services

- Identification & Notification Process Chart
- Assessment & Referral
- Re-referral

Youth Offending Services Identification & Notification Process Chart of Persons in the Community Who Pose a Risk to Children:

Re- Assessment of PPRC status and case transfer

At the point of case closure re-assessment of risk to children should be undertaken. Where no ongoing risk is identified then a referral should be forwarded to Children Services to update their records.

Also where an individual is moving from YOS Supervision into Probation caseload, the key worker should ensure PPRC status is clear and indicated to ensure continuity in monitoring. At the point of transfer consideration should also be given to the reassessment of any on-going risk to children.

Referral to Local Authority Children's Services: Social Care.

Youth Offending Services will complete the assessment of risk posed by the individual using the ASSET tool. Where the assessment concludes that the individual poses an on-going risk to children then a referral will be made to Children Services Social Care.

Referrals to Children's Services should be completed on a PPRC2 referral form marked either for Information Only or for Assessment.

Referrals for Information

Local Authorities are required to keep details of all persons with a PPRC status residing in their area. Therefore the PPRC referral notification should be sent to the Local Authority covering the address of the offender in all cases.

Referrals for Assessment

Where referrals are for Assessment of risk to a child are made these should be directed to the Children's Services Social Care covering the address of the identified child and copied to the Local Authority where the offender resides for their information if this is different. A child's details must be identified within this referral with detail as to the context of the contact taking place or planned.

Where the young person is aged 18 or over and open to YOS with no fixed abode then the referral should be sent to the Local Authority area in which the offender is being managed by YOS and Police.

Changes in Circumstances and Re-referral

Where there is a significant change in circumstances (e.g. discharge from a place of residential institution, change of area/address or identification of a child now known to be in contact with the PPRC) the YOS case worker should generate and submit a new PPRC2.

The new referral should again consider the change of circumstances and send the relevant new PPRC2 referral i.e. For Information or for Assessment.

No Further Risk Identified

In cases where an individual has been ASSET assessed as no longer posing a risk to children, the details of the relevant offence and conviction will be retained as outlined in Probation Circular 87/2005. This decision will be shared with the Children's Social Care.

PPRC or Section 47: Child Protection Referral

The PPRC process is for managing individuals who have a conviction against a child or whose behaviour directed towards a child gives cause for concern.

Where concerns are raised about the welfare and or safety of a child due to the criminal activity, behaviour or lifestyle of an individual but where no offences against a child have been perpetrated then the process for referral is the standard Safeguarding procedure in the local authority for the resident child. Most Local Authorities will have an interagency referral form for use.

2. Service Processes & Assessments

HM PRISONS SERVICE

- Identification & Notification
- Process Chart
- Notes to Process Chart
- Guidance to Reassessment of Persons in Custody Previously Identified as Posing A Risk to Children

Identification and notification for custody based services: HMPS

The Prison Service has a responsibility to identify prisoners in custody who pose a risk to children including young persons under 18 in custody.

The identification of a prisoner posing a risk to children can occur at any point during their imprisonment – regardless of their status as either a remand or convicted prisoner.

The notes below describe how staff within the prison service will go about identifying such prisoners, and how different departments within the prison work together to assess and manage the risk. The process is broken down into stages.

Assessment

OASys and ASSET will often be the tool for assessing risk to children; but HMPS will also use many other sources of information to determine risk to children.

Management

The management of an individual who presents a risk to children will often be through a multi-disciplinary Risk Management Team (RMT) which is in place in each of the prisons in this Prison area. The RMT usually includes the establishment's public protection co-ordinator, security, psychology and programmes staff, seconded probation, and other staff relevant to management of risk. The prison is able to monitor an individual's communication (letters, phone calls) to protect children where appropriate.

Notifications at Reception and Pre-release

Where an individual has been identified as presenting a risk to children the relevant Prison establishment will:

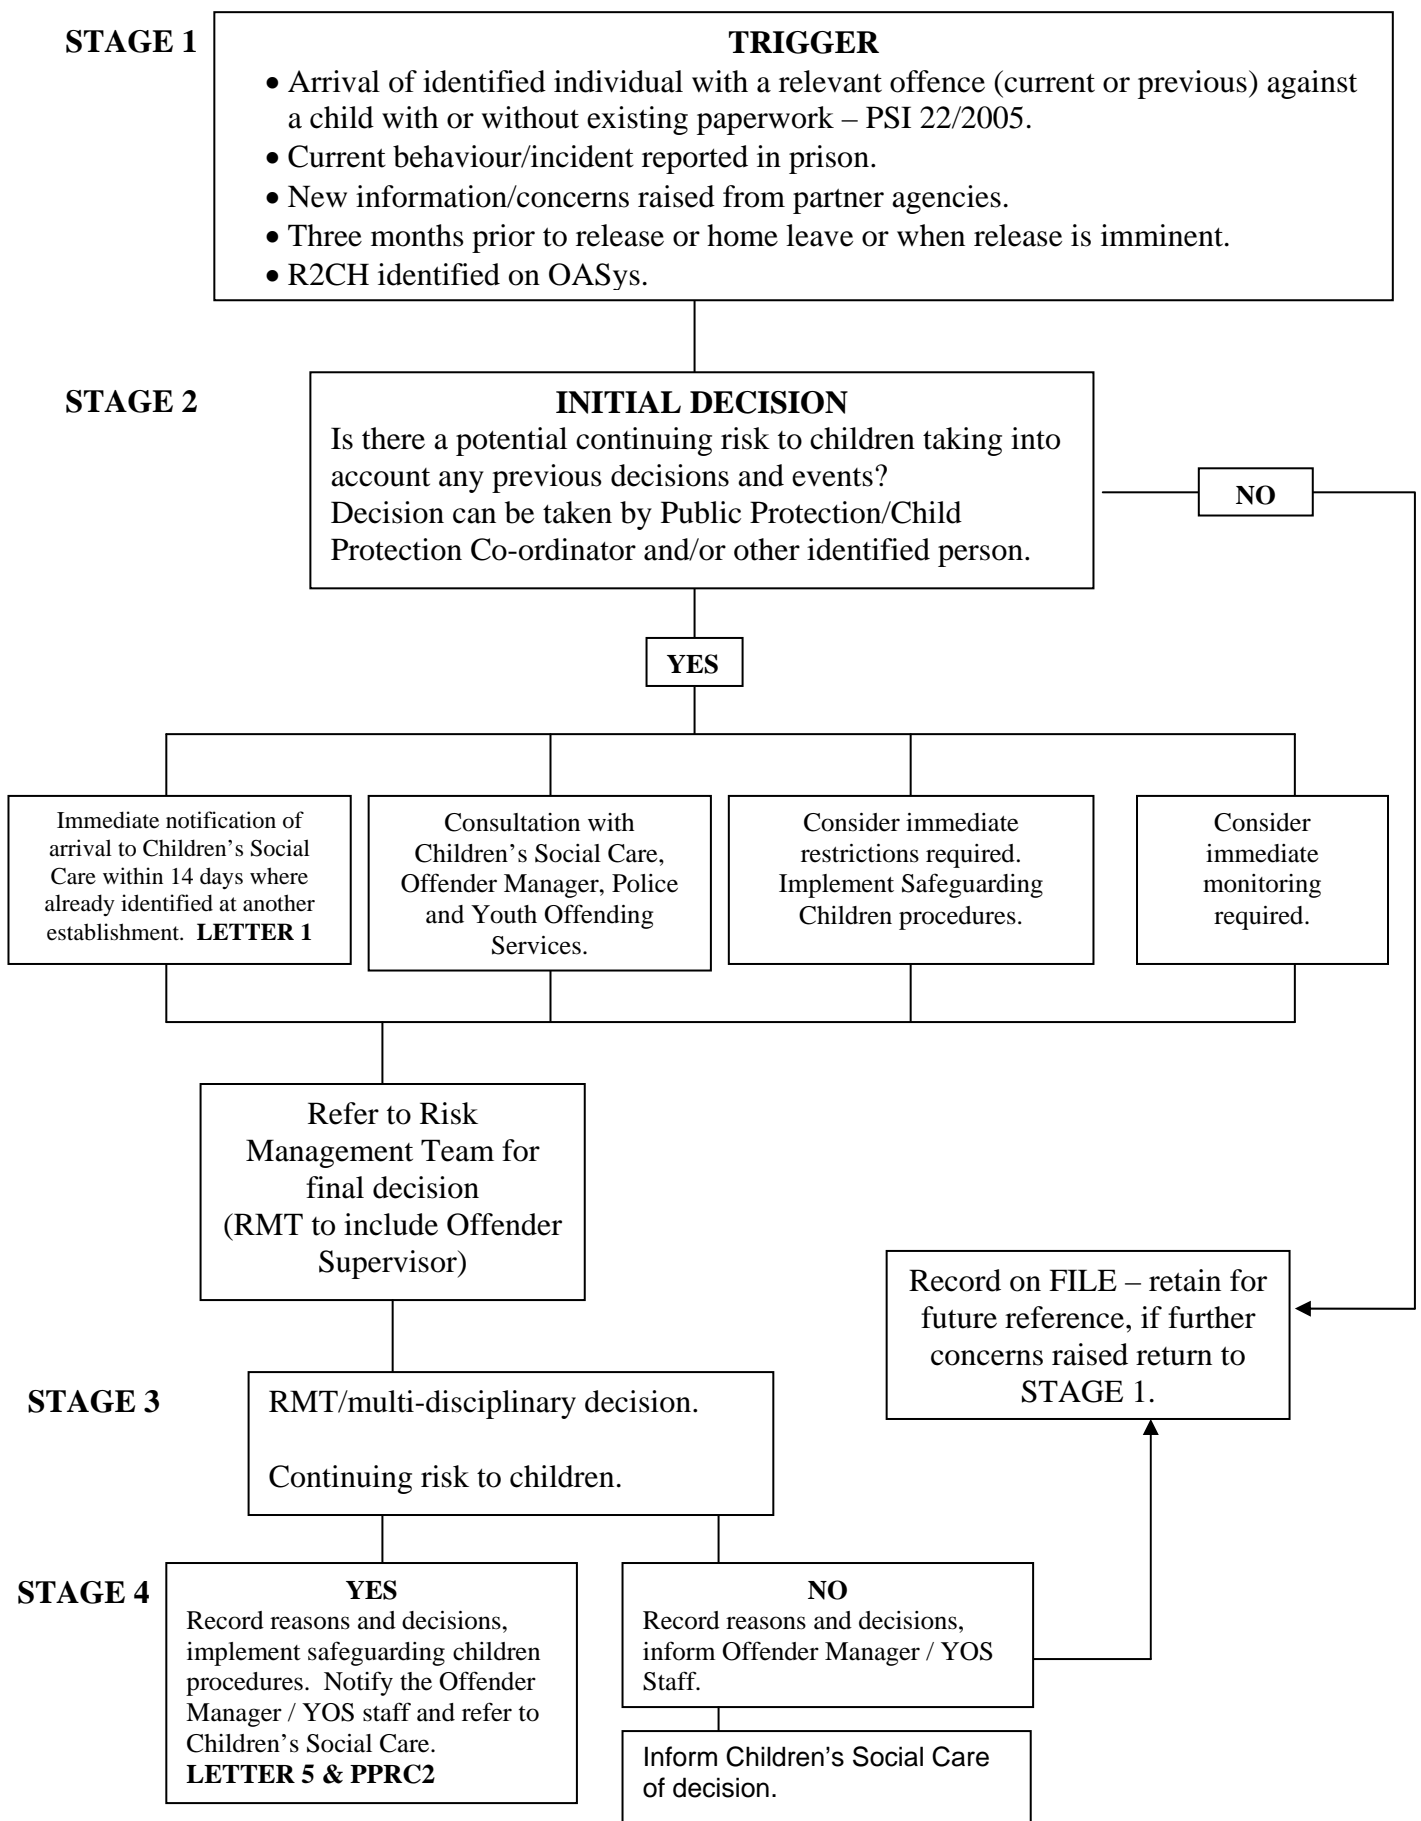

- Inform Social Care, the Probation Service and in the case of under 18s the Youth Offending Team, within 2 weeks of reception (letter 1).
- Inform Social Care, the Probation Service and in the case of Under 18s the Youth Offending Team, of all subsequent transfers (letter 2a/2b).
- Inform Social Care, the Probation Service and the Police at least 6 weeks before release and provide the release address of the offender (letter 4c).

Re-referral

Where there is a significant change in circumstances (e.g. release or home leave from custody or identification of a child in contact with the PPRC) the Prison should generate and submit a new PPRC2. (letter 5)

The new referral should again consider the change of circumstances and send the relevant new PPRC2 referral. I.e. where there is an identified child an Assessment request referral must be made outlining the circumstances of contact with a child. Where there is no identified child for example the person has moved to a new area then a referral for Information only can be sent.

Process Chart for the Management of Persons in Custody Who Pose a Risk to Children

Please Note: Where an individual is moving from YOI into the Adult Estate, the key worker should ensure PPRC status is clear and indicated to ensure continuity in monitoring.

Notes to Process Chart

STAGE 1

- This can occur at any point in the sentence
- It can be the result of minor or major incidents or behaviour
- If the paperwork has been completed elsewhere, check for accuracy and consider any new information
- Examples – drugs pass using children on visits, reported inappropriate behaviour in front of children, concern raised by OASys assessor, officer overhears conversation that concerns a child, photos of children found by Censors cause concern, new prisoner identified as continuing risk to children, OASys assessment completed by Offender Manager / ASSET by YOS staff.
- Where there is imminent release or a short sentence is imposed checks should always be made and action considered.
- Always record decisions, reasons and who makes them.

STAGE 2

- If there is existing paperwork and there is identification as a risk to children, notify Children's Social Care and Offender Manager / YOS staff within 14 days (letter 1).
- Decision should always be shared.
- Undertake consultation with partner agencies
- Always seek further information/clarification if required
- Refer to other procedures if urgent and/or serious
- The question is as to whether it requires a formal multi-disciplinary decision
- Always record decisions, reasons and who makes them.

STAGE 3

- The decision to be made is whether the person is considered a 'continuing risk to children'
- Make sure that you have a multi-disciplinary team including the Offender Supervisor to ensure the Offender Manager's view is represented
- Include those in the prison with skill and expertise in this area
- Always consider consulting with Children's Social Care and if there is current involvement of a social worker or in very high risks cases involve Children's Social Care if possible in your meetings
- Ask yourself whether you have sufficient information – do not make a decision until you are satisfied about this
- Always record decisions, reasons and who makes them.

STAGE 4

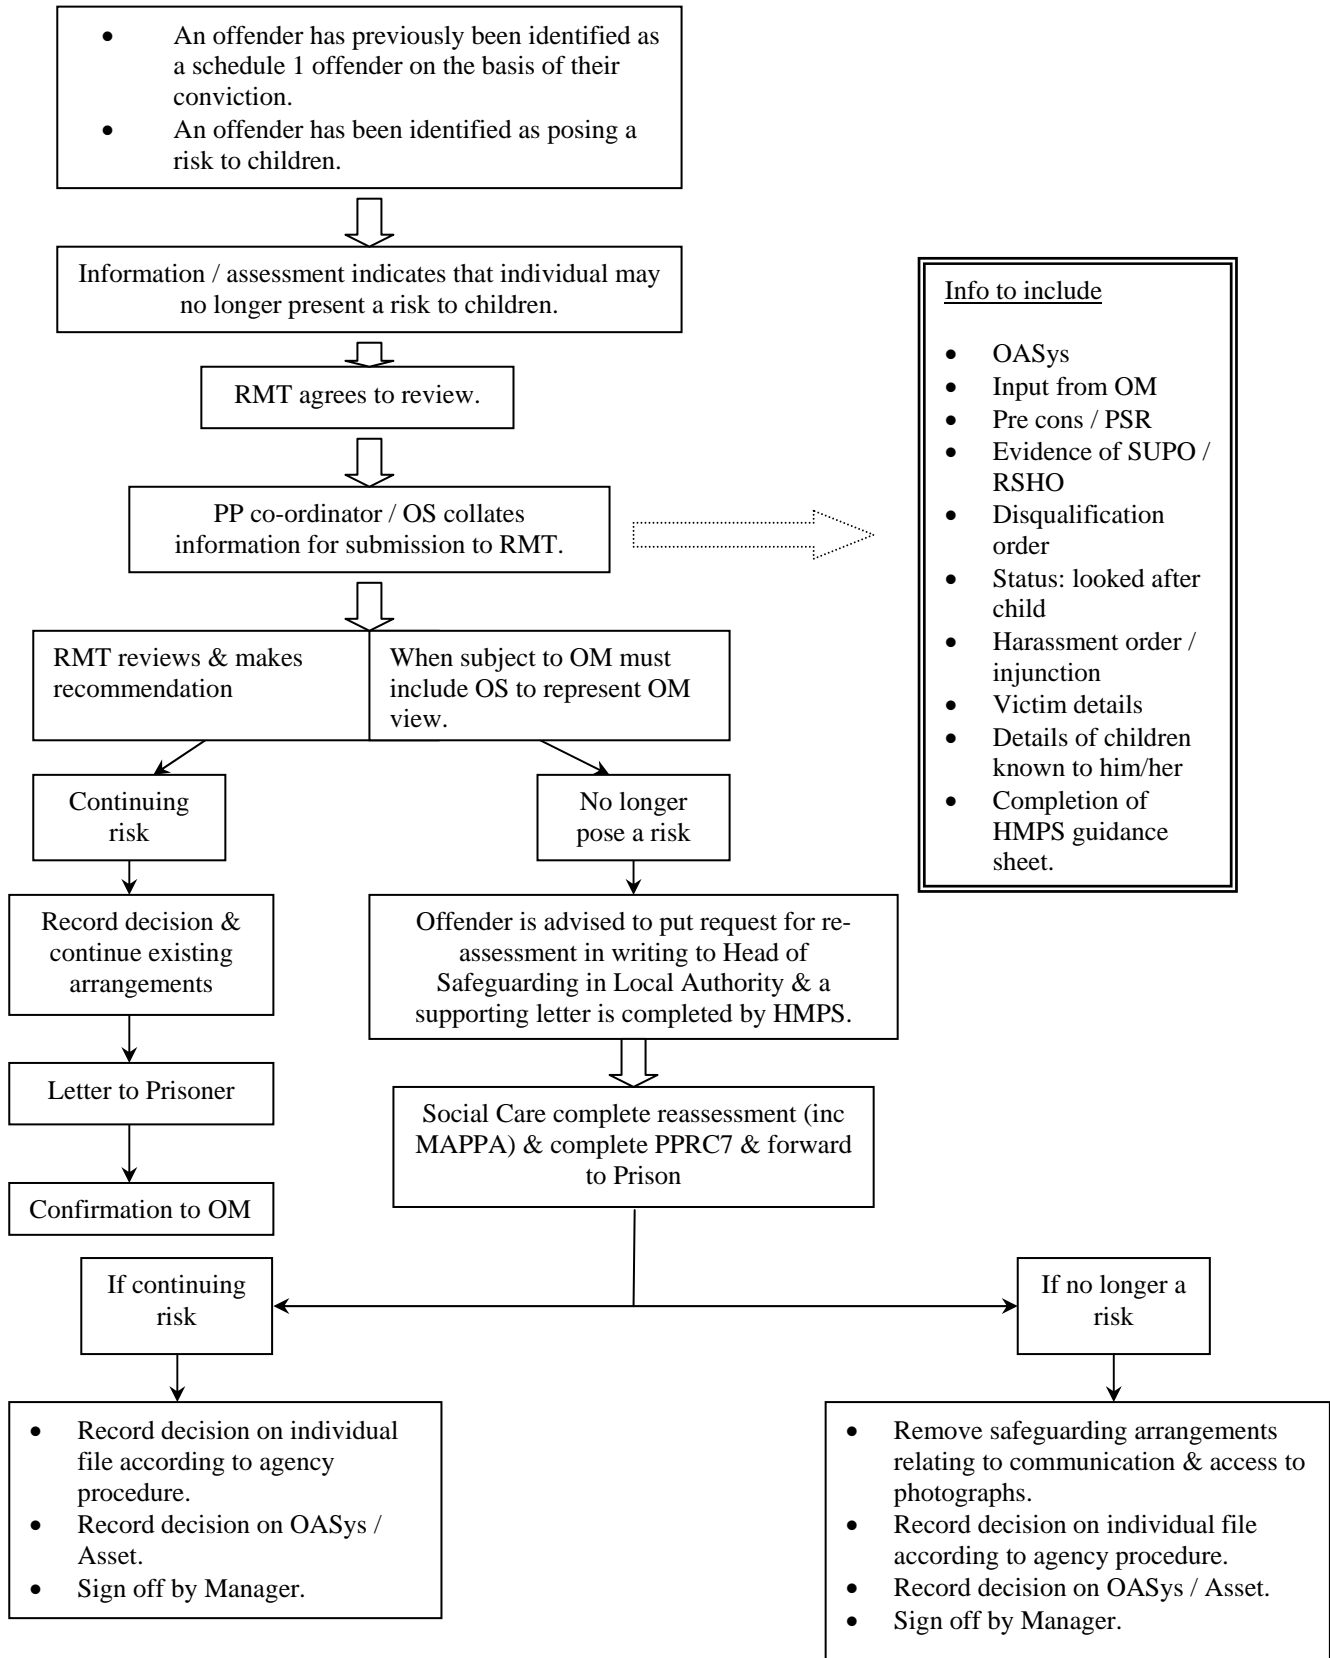

- Children's Social Care must be notified where the individual is assessed as posing a risk to children.
- The PPRC2 is the appropriate referral form.
- Where an individual child is in direct or likely contact a PPRC2 referral for Assessment should be made and the child's details confirmed within the referral. Where there is no identified child then a PPRC2 referral for Information only should be made.
- The Offender Manager / YOS staff should be notified in either case.

Reassessment of persons in custody previously identified as posing a risk to children

The reassessment process applies to:

- (i) Offenders identified as posing a risk to children under the previous schedule 1 arrangements.
- (ii) Offenders identified as posing a risk to children since the withdrawal of the schedule 1 arrangements.

It is anticipated that it will be used most frequently to reassess those previously identified as schedule 1.

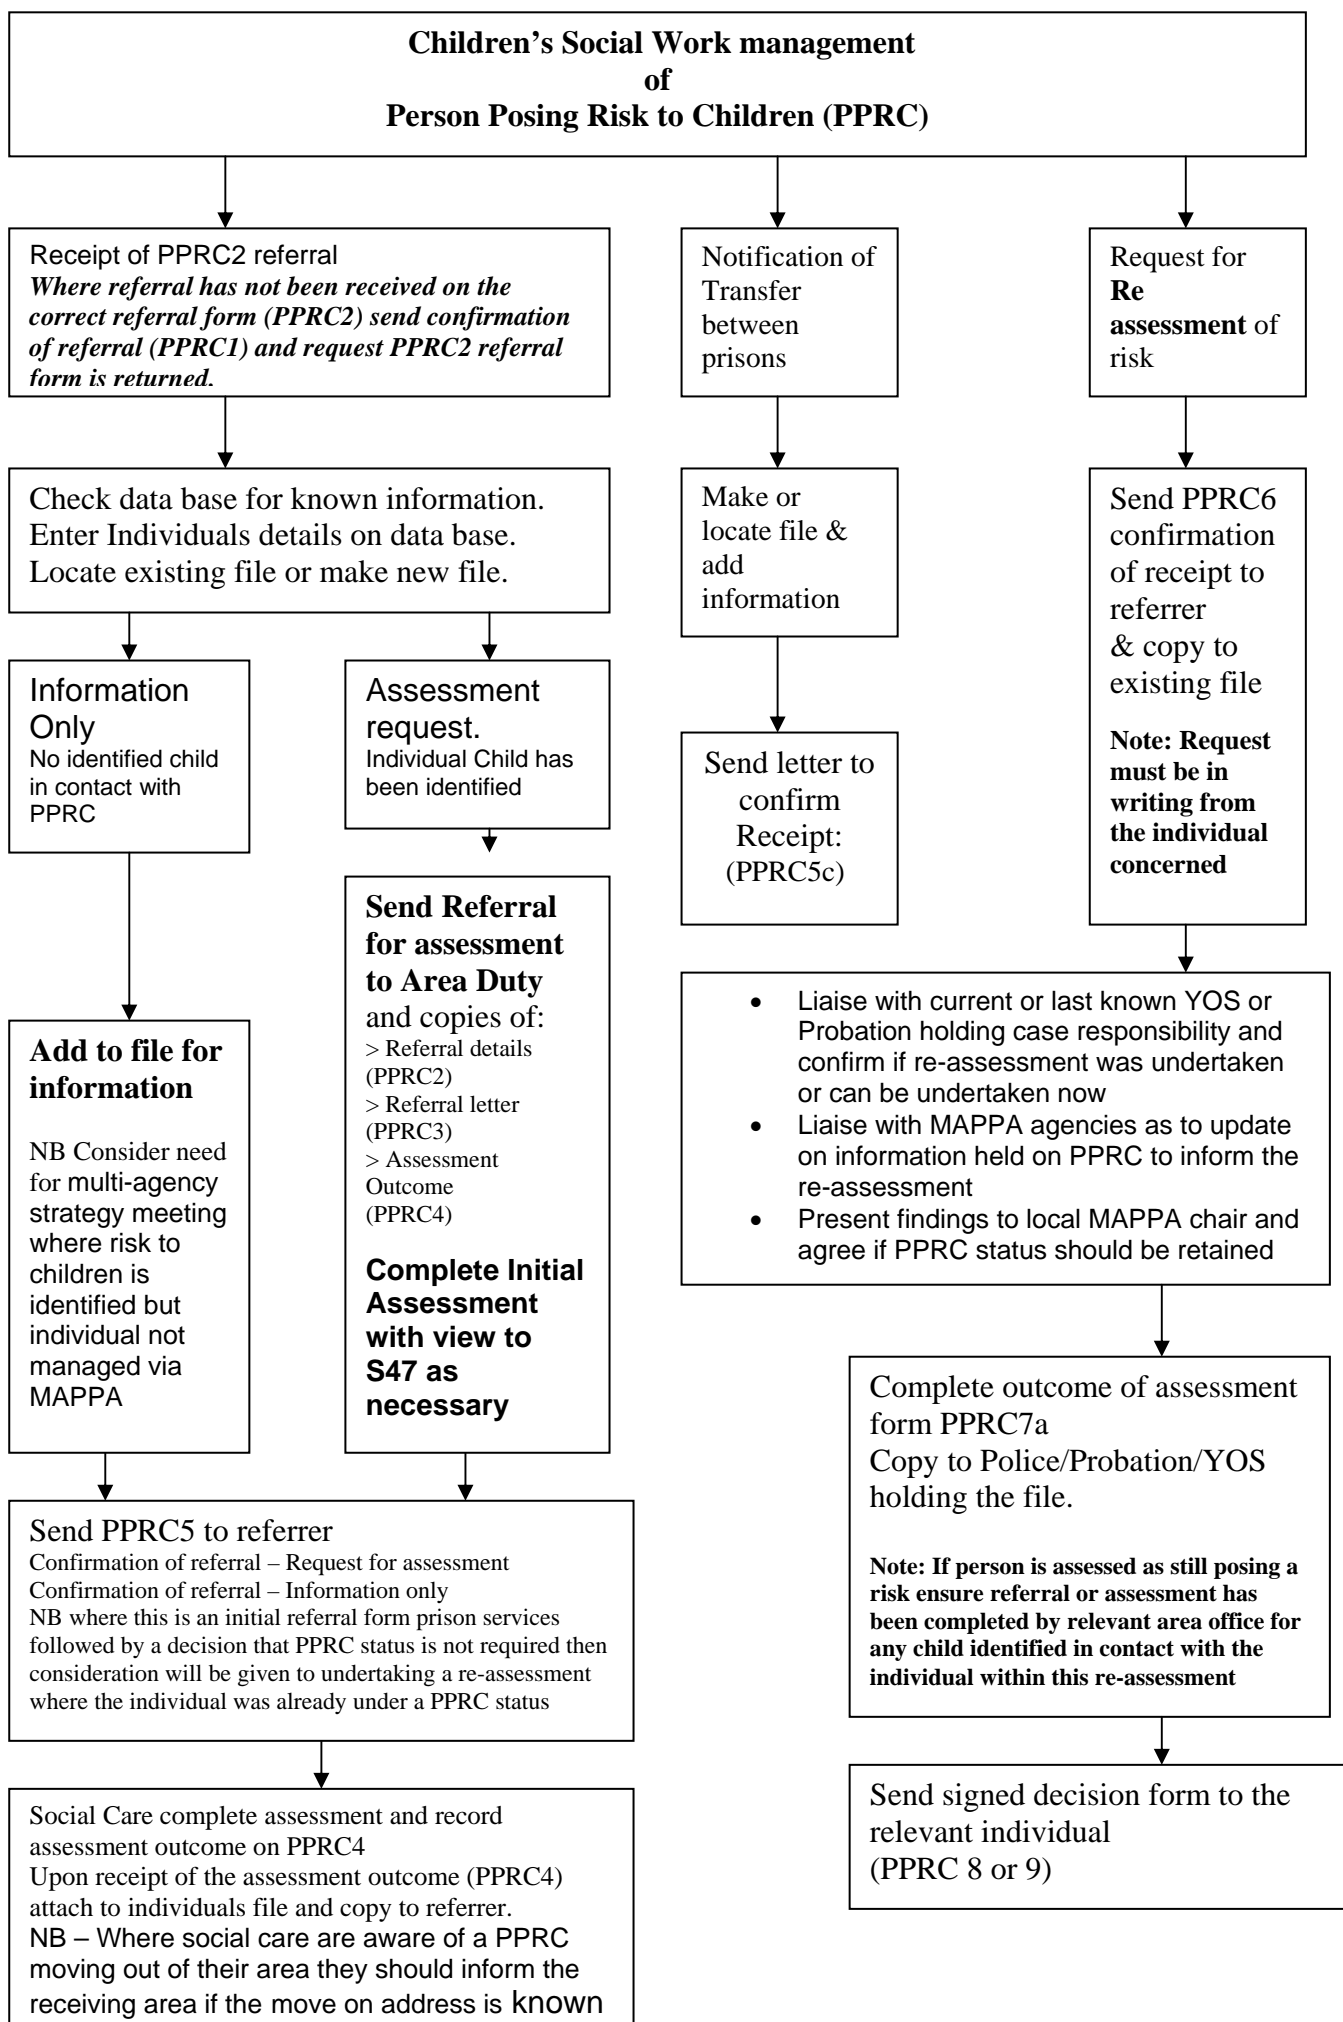

2.Service Processes & Assessments

CHILDREN'S SOCIAL CARE

- Assessment of need and risk
- Process Chart
- PPRC and S47 Child Protection
- Re-Assessment of PPRC status

Assessment of risk to children

- It is the duty of every Local Authority to safeguard and promote the welfare of children within their area. Where the Local Authority have reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering or is likely to suffer significant harm they are required to undertake enquiries to enable them to take any action necessary to safeguard or promote the child's welfare. (Children Act 1989 S17 and S47)
- Where any individual is cautioned or convicted of an offence against a child or perpetrates an offence against a child but no conviction is subsequently secured Probation and Youth Offending services are responsible for assessing a person's ongoing risk to children i.e. PPRC status. Children's social care have a responsibility for informing this assessment though sharing information held on the individual and through sharing information and analysis of any S17 or S47 assessment completed.
- An Initial assessment will be undertaken in all cases where a child is identified as in the care of or significant contact with a person identified as a PPRC. The child's parent/carer will be seen in order to establish their ability to understand the identified risk and assess their capacity to protect the child from harm.
- Where there are concerns about the parent/carer's ability to protect the child from harm enquiries under section 47 of the Children Act 1989 will be undertaken. These will be joint assessment with police as outlined in the local safeguarding procedures.
- Within these assessments relevant details of any conviction or alleged offence relating to the person presenting risk to children (PPRC) will be shared with the parent/carer in order that they can make informed choices about protection of their child. Information will also be shared with a child, in an age appropriate way, where it is felt to be in the best interests of the child and helpful to the assessment.
- Where it is deemed necessary, specialist assessments may be sought to provide information to support this core assessment. i.e. Assessment of a persons Learning ability, Mental Health, Capacity to change or Levels of power / dependency within a relationship.
- Where there are concerns that a parent is, for what ever reason, unable to provide the necessary level of care to protect the child from harm the case will proceed through the Child Protection process and consideration given to legal intervention to protect a child as necessary.
- Where there is no identified child in contact with a PPRC information will be held at a central Safeguarding office in the Local Authority where the PPRC resides. This information will be accessed and shared should any person or agency notify contact with an identified child.

PPRC Assessment or Section 47 Child Protection Referral

The PPRC process is for managing individuals who have perpetrated offences against a child and where a decision has been made that the person poses an ongoing risk to other children. A list of offences against children can be found at the end of this guidance. Offences against a child are set within the context of significant harm identified as Physical Abuse, Sexual Abuse, Emotional Abuse or Neglect by the Children Act's 1898 and 2004 and Working Together 2006.

Where a person has perpetrated an offence against a child and assessment of risk to children is required the PPRC referral process outlined in this guidance should be followed.

Where an individual perpetrates acts of criminal behaviour involving violence or substance misuse but which are not perpetrated against a child there may be cause for concern about child welfare if this person is a parent or carer of a child or has significant contact or residence with a child.

Assessment in these circumstances may be required as to how their criminal behaviour impacts on their parenting capacity and or the child's welfare.

Where a person criminal behaviour present concerns for the welfare of a child a referral for assessment should be made in line with the local authority's Safeguarding Children arrangements.

S47 Child Protection Assessments and Child Protection Planning

There will be a number of individuals assessed as posing risk to the children who are in contact with or who are resident with children and these risks will be appropriately managed within a child protection plan for the child identified at risk of harm.

All Children's Social Care services will ensure that the name of the PPRC individual is cross referenced with any child on whom an assessment of risk has been undertaken. This information should be held on the PPRC's record and will enable a chronology as well as patterns to be identified regarding the behaviour of a PPRC informing the level of risk posed.

Request for re-assessment of person who poses risk to children

All Local Authority Children's Services are required to record the names and details of any person identified as posing ongoing risk to children living within their local authority. Therefore individuals requesting information and re-assessment of this status have been and should continue to be made to the relevant Head of Safeguarding for the Local Authority.

However as outlined within this document the responsibility for assessing a persons ongoing risk to children and PPRC status is primarily the responsibility of the Youth Offending Services and Probation service using the appropriate assessment tools.

Each of those services should undertake a re-assessment of risk through the time of their intervention and importantly at the point of case closure. Where any person who's risk to children has been addressed and where assessment concludes they no longer pose a risk to children this information must to recorded on the agency file and sent to the responsible Children's Services holding the PPRC status in order that their information can also be updated.

In cases where a person requests a re-assessment of risk due to their renewed or planned contact with children then Children's Social care will undertake the necessary Initial Assessment and S47 enquiry for the identified child. Within this assessment liaison will take place with the Youth Offending Service or Probation to obtain their involvement and or views on the ongoing risk posed. Where appropriate it may be necessary for Children's Social Care to refer the individual for a re-assessment to an approved agency to inform their assessment and child protection planning.

In cases where an individual seeks a review of their status but there is no known contact with children then Children's Social Care will liaise with the MAPPA agencies in order to gather and share information regarding the person's previous history leading to PPRC, establish past or current information indicating continued risk or reduced risk to children and present the case for discussion at the local MARAP forum for agreement as to the level of ongoing risk to children.

2. Service Processes & Assessments

POLICE

- Identification & Referral
- Process Chart - See local force guidance for additional details re roles, responsibilities and decision making.

Notes for Guidance Persons Posing a Risk to Children (PPRC)

The purpose of this process is to bring to the attention of the Local Authority Children's Services any individual who poses a risk to children. A referral made under this protocol will lead to an assessment where there is an identified child or sharing of information where there is no identified child.

This guidance concerns the way in which referrals will be made by police officers and police staff.

Police Process for PPRC

Police officers and staff will encounter individuals who may be considered as 'posing a risk to children' through a variety of circumstances in their work. The roles, responsibilities, decision making authority and process for managing these cases may vary across police services and therefore local police guidance should be referred to in conjunction with this manual.

Criteria for PPRC referrals

- Children's Social Care must be notified where the individual is assessed as posing a risk to children.
- The PPRC2 is the appropriate referral form.
- Where an individual child is in direct or likely contact a PPRC2 referral for assessment should be made and the child's details confirmed within the referral. Where there is no identified child then a PPRC2 referral for information only should be made.

This applies in cases where there is a relevant conviction and in cases where there is not a relevant conviction but the individual's behaviour gives cause for concern. See Purpose and Principles section for further explanation.

The individual force procedure should be followed.

Informing the Individual & Disclosure

Informing the Individual and Disclosure

The responsibility for informing the individual presenting a risk to children sits with the agency assessing / identifying that risk. The PPRC should be advised that notification has been sent to Children Social Care in line with requirement. In exceptional cases only would a PPRC not be informed of their PPRC status. Reasons for not informing the individual be clearly defined and recorded by that individual agency and signed off by a responsible manager.

Where a referral has been made for “Assessment” of a child the parent / carer of the child concerned should be advised of the referral unless to do so would place the child at risk of harm. Reasons for not informing the parent should be stated in eth referral and clearly defined and recorded by that individual agency.

Decision-making about disclosure to third parties regarding a person’s PPRC status must comply with MAPPA Guidance (2009) for those individuals subject to MAPPA on the basis of their offence and sentence.

Disclosure to third parties of those not subject to MAPPA will be made within Child Protection section 47 enquiries led by Children’s Services: Social Care.

Probation Service	Each Probation Area has its own policies and procedures with respect to closed file retention, but based on a minimum of six years before a file is destroyed. It follows from this that Areas should retain Risk to Children cases in accordance with their retention of high risk of harm cases where children in the offenders care are on the child protection register at the point of case closure. Notification of Person who Poses or may pose a Risk to Children.

Re: Full NAME:
Date of Birth:

I am writing to acknowledge receipt of your notification letter regarding the above named person.

I need to advise you that a new system is now in place for the management of notification and assessment of Person posing a Risk to children.

The new referral form is called the PPRC2 and is attached for your information as a hard copy. Your own agency should soon have an electronic version available to you.

Assessment of whether a person poses a risk to children is the responsibility of Probation / Police / Prison and or Youth Offending services. Only those deemed to pose ongoing risk to children should be referred to the Local Authority.

Section 47 of the Children Act 1989 places responsibility for assessing risk to children on the Local Authority where the child is resident in their area.

Therefore referrals can be made for "information only" where there is no identified child or for "Assessment" of risk to an identified child where contact is likely, intended or current.

It is essential that we have sufficient information to inform an assessment and where such contact is known or planned that we are advised as soon as possible in order that the assessment can be completed.

Therefore I would be grateful if you could complete the new referral form PPRC2 and return it to me as soon as possible.

Yours sincerely

Head of Safeguarding

Notification of Arrival / Transfer in prison or pending trial for relevant offence

Re: Full NAME:
 Date of Birth:

I am writing to confirm receipt of your notification of the arrival/transfer or pending trial of a person potentially posing risk to children.

I can confirm that a new system is in now in place for the management of notification and assessment of Persons Posing a Risk to Children. The new referral form is called the PPRC2.

Assessment of whether a person poses a risk to children is the responsibility of Probation / Police / Prison and or Youth Offending services. Only those deemed to pose ongoing risk to children should be referred to the Local Authority.

Referrals can be made for “information only” where there is no identified child or for “Assessment” of risk to an identified child where contact is likely, intended or current.

We will await a formal PPRC2 referral regarding those identified as posing an ongoing risk to children before taking any further action. This form can be completed either by the investigating police officer, allocated probation officer or youth offending worker or you and must identify named children where an assessment is requested.

If you have made this referral and are not aware of whether the person has contact with any child you must liaise with the investigating police officer, allocated probation officer or youth offending worker and agree who will send the PPRC2 and what information it should contain.

If you need any further advice or assistance please contact the Safeguarding central team on the number provided.

Interim letter to support PPRC process implementation - YOS

Date:

Dear

Notification of Person who Poses or may pose a Risk to Children.

Re: Full NAME:
Date of Birth:

I am writing with regard to the above person concerning his assessed risk to children.

As you will be aware the process for assessing and managing individuals who pose a risk to children was revised in 2008. A full guidance manual setting out the roles and responsibilities of each agency was launched March 2008 and your agency will have an electronic copy of the manual for your information and reference.

Where Probation or Youth Offending Services have completed their assessment and concluded that an individual poses a continued risk to children a PPRC status is recorded, Social Care are required to undertake an Assessment of Risk in respect of each individual child the subject is known to be in contact with or reside with.

From the information you have provided, although Mr X has a relevant conviction against a child, it is not clear whether the context of the offence indicates that the fact of the victim being a person under 18 years old was due to a child being the targeted victim and whether or not the person is assessed to pose ongoing risk to children in general.

If you feel that, despite the conviction there is no specific risk to children in general and children are not targeted as victims, then this can be discussed and agreed with your Line Manager, if agreed no referral to Social Care is required and the PPRC status will not be recorded on Social Care records. Your agency will continue to undertake intervention as you deem necessary.

Clearly the criminal convictions record will remain and this may effect future employment with children as offences will be revealed on any CRB checks.

Please can you review the case in question and clarify your assessment of ongoing risk to children.

If having reviewed the case you still believe that the individual poses a risk to children then you should notify this office again and notification must be sent on the PPRC2 document. You should notify for "Information" only, where there is no specific child identified in contact with the subject or notify for "Assessment" where an individual child is identified.

I hope you find this useful and if you wish to discuss this please contact

Yours sincerely

Assessment of Person who poses a Risk to Children

Re: Full NAME:
Date of Birth:

We are in receipt of your PPRC2 referral, however in this instance we believe that the referral details relate to an individual's general behaviour and or life style that may cause concern should they have a caring role or responsibility for a specific child e.g.: substance misuse or violence against an adult, rather than any direct abuse of a child. In such cases referral for concerns and assessment for a child should be made under Section 17/Section 47 of the Children's Act 1989 and directed to the area office covering the address of the child

The PPRC procedure is relevant for managing people who have offences against children (whether or not a conviction was secured). In these cases the information on the adult individual is managed centrally at Silvermere Centre, and a referral for information and or assessment of risk to any identified child will be managed from this office.

The issues raised in your referral need to be made via the Inter-Agency referral form (copy enclosed) to (duty office, address, postcode, tel) Duty Office.

Yours sincerely
